Curtis advises emerging growth and public companies alike on a wide range of corporate transactions.

Curtis counsels clients at all stages of growth on mergers, acquisitions, financings (venture capital and private equity), corporate governance, and securities compliance matters. He has experience working with both public and private companies with a focus on healthcare, life sciences, technology, and manufacturing industries. Curtis excels in distilling difficult laws and facts into direct and actionable advice.

Prior to joining Holland & Hart, Curtis practiced at a Texas healthcare boutique law firm assisting clients with healthcare regulatory and transactional matters.
